“Diana Dors-Her Story”

Through Words and Song

Written and produced, by Diana Dors and Mandy Winters

Miss Diana Dors aka Mandy Winters, The likeness to Dors is uncanny, and there were a few gasps from the audience as Mandy walked onto the stage accompanied by two topless buff men, who were with her on stage throughout. I loved the way that Mandy Winters portrayed herself as Diana the makeup, hair and dress were spot on. I also loved the way she sang Diana's songs, and then sat in a throne to tell Diana's life story linked into songs, originally recorded by Dors, more stories, it was a successful format.

I was enthralled and caught up in the story and the evening drew to a close with the intro of Adam Ant's "Prince Charming "of which Diana appeared in the video when it was a hit.

The evening was backed by Adrian Brown and The Collection, a tight band which, as always great to see live musicians.

Mandy is a very strong, sassy entertainer, and is utterly delightful, an enjoyable evening was had by all.
